Obie Roberts struck and killed Tuesday night

By BECKY BARNES, EDITOR

A well-known Cynthiana homeless man died Wednesday morning after being struck by a truck on Main Street Tuesday night. Obie Roberts, 57, was walking from Renaker Alley onto Main Street about 7:30 p.m. when witnesses say he stepped from behind a car into traffic on Main Street.

Roberts, who is recognized as a local character, was released from the Bourbon County Jail on Monday, May 20, after having been picked up May 13 on charges of alcohol intoxication and disorderly conduct.

Prior to that, jail records show he was released May 12 after having been incarcerated since April 14.

"He just stepped out like he always does," Gross said Wednesday morning following the Fayette County coroner's confirmation that Roberts had died in a Lexington hospital.

He was struck by a 2012 Dodge 3500 truck pulling a cattle trailer, driven by Austin Nettleship, 26, Peak Lane.

Sgt. Wilbur Gross of the Cynthiana Police Department said the pavement was wet and it was still sprinkling at the time of the accident.

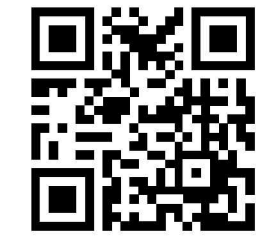

"He just couldn't stop in time," Gross said, noting that witnesses estimate the truck's speed between 20 and 25 mph.

Gross said there was a strong odor of alcohol from Roberts, who was alert and talking at the scene.

However, Gross said Roberts died from multiple blunt-force trauma.

'I'd love to see Cynthiana doing five or six events a year to draw people into town'

VOLUNTEER of the year

By BECKY BARNES, EDITOR

Jerry Adams' day job may be as a barber at his Oddville Avenue shop, but even there he's not far from what really drives him.

Inside Custom Cuts is a old gas pump, photographs of classic cars, and numerous plaques reminding him and telling others of some of his accomplishments.

It was his love of cars that ultimately earned him the Chamber of Commerce's Volunteer of the Year award.

Adams, and a group of car enthusiasts worked for nearly a year to put on Cynthiana's first Rod Run last August.

In its first year, the Rod Run brought over 500 cars and 300 motorcycles into the downtown area as well as hundreds of visitors.

Adams worked on other smaller car shows. In fact, in the two years prior to the Rod Run, Adams worked on 17 and 20 respectively.

"We decided we needed to cut back on the smaller ones and go for a large one," Adams said of the decision to put on the Rod Run.

Adams was also motivated by his desire to make things happen in Cynthiana.

"Cynthiana has gotten comfortable doing things the way they've always been done," Adams said. "I'd love to see Cynthiana doing five or six events a year to draw people into town."

He said he wants to see things grow... even events other than the ones he is directly involved with ... like the Taste of Harrison County and the Art Walk.

He said these are all good events for Cynthiana. He wants to see the community

Young man killed in motorcycle crash Monday

By BECKY BARNES, EDITOR

A young Harrison County man is dead after a Monday evening crash in Lexington.

William Chambers, 23, had been taken to the University of Kentucky Medical Center following the single-vehicle crash, according to hospital officials.

Chambers was involved in a motorcycle wreck about 7:30 p.m. Monday.

According to Sherille Roberts, Lexington-Fayette Metro Police public information officer, police investigated a motorcycle crash on Brentwood Court near Nandino Boulevard. The driver was found unresponsive and taken to UK with life-threatening injuries.

Roberts said that witnesses told police the driver of the motorcycle was driving recklessly and was not wearing a helmet.

Chambers was taken to UK, where he died Tuesday afternoon.

Chambers graduated from Harrison County High School in 2008. He was employed by Chambers Trucking Co., which is owned by his parents, James and Vicky Chambers.

On Monday morning, Chambers appeared in Harrison District Court on numerous traffic-related offenses from a May 2 high-speed motorcycle chase.

Chambers was allegedly clocked by Kentucky State Police entering Cynthiana from U.S. 27 South at 110 mph.

He was faced with nine charges, many of which were merged.

According to court records, a first degree fleeing or evading charge was reduced to a second degree charge and then dismissed. Charges of improper passing, reckless driving, disregarding traffic device, improper lane usage, disregarding stop sign and failure to illuminate head lights, were merged with an amended first degree wanton endangerment of a police officer (to second degree), all for which he entered an Alford plea.

He also entered an Alford plea, which means he did not admit guilt, but concedes the evidence is such that a guilty verdict would be likely.

He also entered an Alford plea to a second degree criminal mischief charge.

The judge sentenced him to 90 days in jail probated for one year (unsupervised) with a $250 fine and costs. All were on the condition that there were no further offenses. Also, on the criminal mischief charge, Chambers was to pay $1,000 in restitution to the Cynthiana Police Department.

HCHS graduation is Friday at Athletic Complex

By BECKY BARNES, EDITOR

If the weather holds, the Class of 2013 will walk across the stage at the Athletic Complex to grab the piece of a paper that gives them admission to the rest of their lives.

Graduation ceremonies will be held Friday, beginning at 7:30 p.m. at the Athletic Complex behind Harrison County Middle School.

According to information released by the Harrison County School District, the gates to the stadium will open at 6 p.m. for those who have tickets.

While moms and dads, grandparents and siblings are filing into the stadium, seniors will be getting ready inside the high school. They'll be taking photographs of each other and posing for their senior composite.

At 7:30 p.m., seniors and faculty will enter the complex from the south gate.

The following information was released by the school district for those who will be attending.

•We encourage the general public to dress accordingly. This is a graduation ceremony to recognize the accomplishments of the class of 2013. Please refrain from wearing any casual attire. It is our goal to bring some pomp and formality back to the outdoor graduation ceremony.

•Only the gate at the north end of the complex will be used

Volunteer

From VOLUNTEER, front he adopted thrive. Originally from Lexington, Adams came to Harrison County where he earned his GED and began cutting hair with Butch Meeks at Corner Cuts for six and a half years. For the last 11 years, he has been in his own shop, where he is now joined by daughter April Emory. Adams and his wife, Tunya, who is minister at Living Hope Assembly, live in Cynthiana. The Adamses other daughters are Crystal Sparks and Nicole Tolliver. His wife is also an active member of the founding committee of the Rod Run. Adams said it takes a lot of people to make an event successful. Committee members beside the Adamses are Billy Hughes, Bobby Bell, Johnny Bell, Charles Nigg, Kevin Florence, Crystal Prather, Lee Ross, Ray Johnson, Wes Mallory, April Emory, Cynthia and Ron Jenkins, Ollie Taylor, Joe Anderson, Kathy and Mike Brown. Adams said he has been contacted by many people wanting to be involved with the 2013 Rod Run, many admitting they had no idea how big the first-year event was going to be. And, while there have been several people come on board for the 2013 event, Adams said there is still a great need for volunteers to help with everything from manning an information center to parking cars. He anticipates that 2013 will be an even bigger event than the maiden Rod Run. He said conservative expectations are for 700 cars and 400 motorcycles. There will also be farm tractors and "big rigs" at this year's show, which will be Aug. 24. Look for demonstrations from Bridge Street to Pleasant and beyond and from Church to Poplar streets. Within those blocks, there will be activities all day. There will be a model car contest at the Cynthiana-Harrison County Public Library, a pizza eating contest at Snappy Tomato Pizza, a beauty contest with a 40's pin-up model theme, a car auction, a sound system competition at Auto Zone, a petting zoo and kids' zone, a Slade's Powder Coating demonstration and tour, a Dailey's Body Shop paint demonstration and a swap meet. Adams truly expects there to be something for everyone who comes to downtown on Aug. 24. Not a day goes by that Adams has not had his hands in something dealing with the Rod Run ... that's what earned him the Chamber's Volunteer of the Year award.

MAKE WAY. Ptl. Nathan Linville recently demonstrated a Segway that was on loan to the Cynthiana Police Department from Segway of Indiana. The equipment will be used for security during the HCHS graduation ceremony on Friday, May 24. Linville is hoping to get sponsorships that would allow the department to get one and possibly two of the Segways to be used during special activities downtown as well as regular patrol. "This new program would further our department's goal to a safer community and would also help implement a more community-oriented police department," Linville said. The cost for each unit is about $7,700. For more information, contact Linville at the Cynthiana Police Department, 234-7157

Scammers preying on those helping others

Why should I be receiving press releases with headings like “Seniors informed on how to avoid fraud,” and “KU customers warned about bill-payment scam?”

Now, with the recent storm tragedies in Oklahoma, there will be new scams popping up all over.

I can remember my grandmother shaking her head as the news flicked across her old black and white television in the 70s exclaiming “What is this world coming to?”

Today, I’m asking that same question and scratching my head with no answer in sight.

It saddens me that the very people who have worked hard all their lives are now being targeted by people who are too lazy to get a respectable job and earn an honest income. They have to resort to lying and cheating the elderly or in the case of the devastating Oklahoma storm, the victims who are vulnerable and easy prey.

Under normal circumstances, you would rely on common sense to lead you into helping others.

But when emotions are high and concern for others is clouding your judgment, it’s easy to hone in on what you would normally steer away from.

For example, the photographs from Moore, Okla., have been horrific. We’ve seen children being carried away bloodied and bruised, much like the scenes from Boston when the historic Boston Marathon turned deadly.

It’s our nature to want to help. We feel safe here in our homes while others are reeling in misfortune.

I often refer to the Better Business Bureau and its many warnings regarding scams. This time, it’s no different.

Their best tips in the wake of disaster:

- Get the charity’s exact name. With so many charities in existence, mistaken identity is a common problem.
- Beware of organizations with copy-cat names similar to reputable charities.
- Be wary of heart-wrenching appeals.

Becky Barnes Editor

- Verify the legitimacy of a non-profit organization by utilizing resources that may assist in confirming a non-profit’s existence and status. The public can go to www.bbb.org/charity to research charities and relief organizations and verify that they are Accredited by the BBB and meet the 20 Standards for Charity Accountability.

- Be cautious when giving online. Beware of unsolicited email messages that claim to link to a relief organization. Go directly to a legitimate charity’s website.

- Be cautious of emails that claim to show pictures of disaster areas in attached files or on social media. The files could contain viruses.

- Resist pressure. Do not be pressured into making contributions on the spot. A reputable charity will take your donation today, tomorrow, or next month.

- Do not provide your personal or financial information to anyone who solicits contributions. This could compromise your identity.

- Avoid cash donations, if you can. Pay by credit card or write a check directly to the charity. Do not make checks payable to individuals.

- Never wire money for a donation. Legitimate charities do not normally solicit donations via money transfer services.

- Be wary of claims that 100 percent of donations will assist relief victims. Despite what an organization might claim, charities have fundraising and administrative costs. Even a credit card donation will involve, at a minimum, a processing fee.

My best suggestion is to donate to the American Red Cross. We know first-hand what the Red Cross means during turmoil.

In the spring of 1997 when Cynthiana and areas of Harrison County were pounded by floodwaters, it was the American Red Cross that set up shop here to help out those who were affected and those who came to lend a hand to

To donate to the American Red Cross by phone, English: 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800-733-2767); Español: 1-800-257-7575;

Or, you may donate by mail.

Send donations to:

American Red Cross

PO Box 4002018

Des Moines, IA 50340-2018

If you’re sending a check, be sure to write your preferred designation (such as “Disaster Relief” or “Military Families”) on the memo line of your check.

When someone calls asking for donations that they bill as directly going to a targeted area, be very careful.

Those in need are relying on those of us who have not been directly affected to assist them with the nightmares of tragedy.

The best way is for us not to become a victim in our own right.

On July 14, 1960, a special edition of the Cynthiana Democrat was printed to inform readers about the total destruction of the McLoney Warehouse, which was claimed by fire on July 10. The warehouse was home to a hardware and farm implement store, operated by Nelson McLoney; Douglas McLoney and Son, a seed, feed and fertilizer business; L. C. and Sons Independent Tobacco Warehouse and the American Tobacco Co., a prize house leased from McLoneys. All were completely destroyed in the blaze. Crowds flocked to Cynthiana on that Sunday morning to witness the fire. Eighty-five firemen worked four hours, using five pumper trucks, to gain full control. Nine more hours were needed to completely extinguish the fire. Damage estimates at the time ranged from between $500,000 to $1.5 million. Photo was submitted by Willard Fryman and Thorne McLoney.

Commissioners debate salary increases for city, EDA director

By BECKY BARNES, Editor

In the early stages of the City of Cynthiana's budget discussions, city clerk Charleen McIlvain was told to budget a cost of living raise for all city employees.

A cost of living raise will amount to an additional $82,608 for the next fiscal year.

McIlvain was also asked to figure a 50-cent across the board raise. That would equal an additional $131,376 from the city coffers.

At a special meeting last week, commissioners suggested that the lower number be considered with the opportunity to raise that before the budgeting process was over.

However, in further budget discussions, the commissioners also considered a raise for the Economic Development Authority's executive director, Darlene Bussell.

Bussell's current base salary is $43,500. The EDA requested a 10 percent increase of her salary.

There was some discussion and ultimately a clarification needed for her perks, including $500 per month for mileage.

Commissioner Gary Brunker noted that he drove to Frankfort to work and was never compensated for mileage from home.

He said if the mileage stipend is for the director to show properties and meet with representatives of potential buyers, it would be understandable. However, he said mileage from home to work would not be.

Bussell also receives a 3 percent bonus for land sales at the Business Park as well as a $100 per person in a job created by a new business.

"I think she deserves more," said Mayor Steve Moses.

"How are we ... agreed she has done some stuff ... going to justify giving a county employee that much when we are giving our own employees 1.2 percent?" questioned Commissioner Roger Slade.

Commissioners agreed that Bussell has done well bringing in new business. However, Billy Grayson noted that the apparent hang up is the mileage.

Commissioners agreed to wait on EDA figures until a clarification can be made of the mileage stipend.

It was also noted that the county agreed to a $1,040 increase rather than the $2,175 requested from each of the city and county.

Prior to the budget portion of the meeting, the commissioners agreed to apply for a COPS grant that would increase the number of certified officers for Cynthiana.

Brunker said the 3-year grant, if approved, would pay 75 percent of officers' salaries in newly created positions.

On the fourth year, the city would be responsible for the salaries of the new officers.

Brunker said he was looking for an additional two officers above the 16 already approved.

He noted that there would be expenses to the city above the 25 percent match in salary. He said it takes about $4,100 to outfit an officer the first year. As well, there would be overtime, longevity pay, health insurance, retirement and workers' comp insurance.

"It's not cheap," Brunker said. "We know the bypass will have an impact on city operations by the end of the year."

Moses suggested the city approve the application and then consider its merits if and when the grant is awarded.

In another matter, the commission awarded the management audit and operational review of the Cynthiana Police Department to the University of Louisville's Southern Police Institute. The cost will be $20,000.

Brunker said the assessment will look at the city's policy and procedures for the police department and see if those are being enforced. It will also look at hiring processes and conduct ride-a longs with each of the officers.

Brown spends summer as intern with UK's county extension program in Harrison Co.

By BECKY BARNES, Editor

A Harrison County High School graduate and now a University of Kentucky student has come home for the summer to work a dream job.

Jessica Brown, 21, is serving a 13-week summer internship at the Harrison County Extension Service.

A horticulture major, Brown will be a senior this fall.

She will be doing the bulk of her internship with agriculture agent Gary Carter. However, the 4-H Fair and 4-H Camp with Mike Meyer, 4-H agent, is also on her itinerary.

"I'm looking forward to learning about the different things that agents do," Brown said Tuesday. "I didn't realize there was so much involved."

She said she is also anxious for fair week and 4-H camp week.

Once she graduates from UK, Brown is hopeful that she will be one of a growing number of horticulture agents through the University of Kentucky's Extension program.

Brown is no stranger to agriculture.

Growing up in the Connersville area, her parents Randy and Denise Brown raised vegetables on their property.

Brown and her brother, Matthew, also have 16 bee hives that they take care of and extract the honey. It is sold from their home as well as at a few stores in Cynthiana.

She has also been helping Jeff Barnes on his farm for a few years, working in tobacco greenhouses, setting tobacco and planting corn. She has also helped Ben Clifford set tobacco for a few years.

After graduation from HCHS in 2010, Brown earned her associates in science degree from Bluegrass Community and Technical College then transferred to UK last fall.

At school, she is a member of the Horticulture Club. She is also a member of Unity Christian Church.

Click It or Ticket enforcement aimed at increasing seat belt use

Motorists who refuse to wear their seat belts – beware.

The Cynthiana Police Department is joining forces with the Kentucky State Police in the 2013 national "Click It or Ticket" Memorial Day seat belt enforcement mobilization, which began May 20 and will continue through June 2. The purpose is to help save lives by cracking down on those who don't buckle up.

Despite a wealth of data showing that seat belts save lives – and also despite implementation of a primary seat belt law – Kentucky's 83 percent seat belt usage rate lags behind the national rate of 86 percent.

Harrison County's is even worse at 57 percent, said Sgt. Wilbur Gross of the Cynthiana Police Department.

surgical sense ▶ karl schulstad, m.d.

Considering having surgery?
According to Harrison Memorial Hospital's Chief of Surgery, Dr. Karl Schulstad, here are important questions to ask.

- ▶ What are the benefits of having surgery at a facility closer to home?
- ▶ Is the nursing staff accustomed to caring for patients who have had my surgical procedure?
- ▶ What can I expect during the recovery process?
- ▶ Is this procedure covered by my insurance plan?

"Patients often don't ask the critical questions BEFORE surgery. I encourage patients to ask as many questions and discuss as many concerns as they have beforehand. This ensures a more positive surgical outcome and aids in a successful recovery," says Schulstad. "A good surgeon makes sure the patient is a well-informed patient."

If you're considering surgery, talk to Dr. Schulstad. Call 859.234.0390 for more information and a consultation.

True fact:

I am not a professional photographer

True fact: I am not a professional photographer.

Another true fact: I am in desperate need of — something.

As I write this I'm sitting in a park pavilion early on a Saturday morning. I'm supposed to be taking photos of a kids' triathlon for the newspaper, but right now, as the littlest kids are in the pool and on their bikes and running their little legs off, I'm NOT taking their pictures.

Recently, I bought a jazzy new camera, a red one, with a zoomy lens.

With our limited news staff, we reporters are taking more photos these days, which is fun as long as the pictures turn out usable and not terrible.

But right now as I write this I'm not even taking "not terrible" pictures of cute kids. Instead, I'm sitting on a bench in a park pavilion.

With a dead camera battery.

If I were a professional photographer or even someone not in desperate need of something, I would have checked the night before to see if my battery was charged.

But lately, I've been going, going, going, too preoccupied to notice things like dying batteries — mine as well as my camera's.

Yesterday, driving home from work, I was behind my husband's car, thinking about something, not paying attention, going too fast.

He made a quick turn to get away from the idiot moron driver behind him driving on his tail. Later he told me he was horrified to discover that the idiot moron driver was his own wife.

Last night I dreamed I was crying. I dreamed I was in desperate need of something, and that made me cry. I forgot about it as soon as I woke up and just grabbed my camera bag and raced out the door.

But right now I'm not racing anywhere. Instead, I'm sitting on a bench in a park pavilion next to an electrical outlet, charging my battery, my camera's and my own.

I had actually gone to the pool earlier with my jazzy red camera and took two photos. After that, the camera battery died and I panicked, which is what I often do when I finally discover I'm out of juice and realize I can't continue.

So, I packed up my gear and walked all over the park, looking for a place to recharge. By the time I found the pavilion I was sweaty and ready for — something.

Nancy Kennedy
Columnist

GRACE NOTES

Once I plugged my battery charger into the electrical outlet, that's when the thought struck me: Now what do I do? It's probably going to take at least an hour for the green light on the battery charger to stop blinking, and I don't have a book with me to read or even my phone to play with.

Heck, I can't even play with my jazzy red camera and take practice shots of the squirrels running up the trees.

All I can do is sit while I recharge.

So, here I sit.

Off in the distance I can hear kids, but mostly all I hear is quiet — and the whispering voice of God saying things like: "Come to me, all you who labor and are heavy-laden and overburdened, and I will cause you to rest. I will ease and relieve and refresh your souls" (Matthew 11:28, Amplified Bible).

I hear him saying, "He maketh me lie down in green pastures. He leadeth me beside the still waters.

He restoreth my soul" (Psalm 23:2-3). I feel myself quieting down, straining to hear more of his voice.

Sometimes God makes us lie down. He forces us to rest so he can restore our souls.

Right now, that's all I can do, sit here in the quiet while my camera battery recharges.

While God rechargeth me.

I realize it's been a long, long time. Too long, and I've been in desperate need of this.

People say everything happens for a reason.

My friend recently told me about getting a flat tire, and after a series of annoying, irritating events trying to get it fixed he learned that had his tire not been flat he would have been at the exact spot of a massive multi-car accident at the exact time it happened. God spared him from that.

My camera battery dying isn't even a fraction as dramatic, but I believe God knew I desperately needed something; my soul needed an hour away from everything but him, a slight, cool breeze blowing, with nothing to distract me so he can make me rest. The photos will wait. I'll get what I need, as soon as I get what I need right now.

Cynthiana's Linda Allen named ARC Hero of the Year

The Bluegrass Chapter of the American Red Cross completed its sixth annual Heroes Campaign presented by Nurses Registry on May 16.

The Heroes Campaign is a community awareness and fundraising campaign that seeks to recognize those individuals who are making a difference in the community, while also supporting the local Red Cross through financial contributions.

"Our goals were to strengthen the local Red Cross chapter, educate our constituents about the programs and services offered by the American Red Cross, and recognize community heroes," said Terry Burkhart, chief executive officer of the Bluegrass Chapter.

A campaign team of 33 community leaders, led by Connie Harvey of Xerox and husband Piers Harvey of Massage Envy, began work on Feb. 4 and has successfully raised over $115,000 for local Red Cross programs and services.

During the campaign, donors raising or contributing a minimum of $1,000 were eligible to nominate an individual as the 2013 Red Cross "Hero of the Year."

Linda Allen of Cynthiana was recognized as a 2013 "Hero of the Year" nominee at the Campaign Recognition and Celebration Event on May 16 at the Marriott Griffin Gate.

Allen is an admissions officer for the UK College of Health Sciences and UK employee for nearly 37 years.

For more than five years, she has been volunteering at Parkside Manor and Shady Lawn in Cynthiana.

She organizes clothing, furniture and food drives, spends time with the residents, sorts donated clothing by size and visits them in the hospital.

When a new resident arrives, she brings them a welcome packet full of products from her donation drives including shampoo, candy, and writing materials.

She speaks with them individually and helps them get adjusted to their new environment.

For her it's nothing, for the residents, it's everything.

Phase I to begin June 3

By GARY CARTER, Co. EXT. AGENT
The Harrison County Ag Development Board met last week and decided to open the application process for the Phase I Program on Monday, June 3 at 8 p.m. This means on that evening the applications will be available to pick up at the county wide meeting.
I realize this is a busy time of year with soybeans being planted, hay harvested, and probably tobacco being set. The reason for the delay was created because of the supplication approval process requiring an extended period of time.
The following are the times and due dates for the program.
•Advertising will begin this week and will go on until June 3.
•June 3 will be the first date applications will be available.
•Applications will be due at 4:30 p.m. to the Extension Office on June 17. No application will be accepted after that date and time.

•Applications will be scored on Tuesday, June 18.
•Approval letters will be sent out on Monday, June 24.
•The deadline for completion of your project will be Monday, Sept. 16. All paperwork will be due at this time.
We also need to understand that a new requirement was added this year. All folks receiving funds through this program must participate in an educational meeting during the past six months.
All other changes will be discussed at the application meeting. I realize there will be conflicts with this date but try to come if possible. We anticipate having enough funds to supply 110-115 farmer projects at $2,500 each.
If you have any questions, call the Extension Office at 234-5510 and we will try to answer them.

Sweet potatoes need 150 days

I was in Shepherdsville at Country Corner Greenhouse earlier in the week and picked up some good-looking sweet potato slips that are finally ready for the garden.
Up until last week it has been too cold for the southern crop.
Sweet potatoes are tropical by nature but can be grown successfully in Kentuckiana as long as we wait until it is warm (night-time temperatures in the 60's).

Jeneen Wiche
Columnist
www.SwallowRailFarm.com

As long as they have 150 frost-free days and some steamy Ohio Valley weather, we should be knee deep in sweet potatoes by Thanksgiving.
Homegrown sweet potatoes are far superior to anything you would find at the grocery. So, if you love this crop as much as I do, you might consider planting a plot.
Sweet potatoes require very little attention, other than keeping the weed competition down.
It took me about five minutes to prep the row with some composted manure and a garden fork; and another few minutes to pop the dozen slips into the ground ... they were watered in with a little fish emulsion and should perked up the following day beneath a shower of soft rain.
It was perfect timing, for once.
Ideally, the bed should be a little on the sandy side so that drainage is maximized, but average garden soil amended with composted manure is adequate.
Unlike the potato, which is planted out in tuber form, the sweet potato is planted out as little seedlings called slips.

plump up with adequate moisture) and wait.
Many sweet potato growers suggest fertilizing only a portion of your plants so you can be the judge: The general consensus is that unfertilized sweet potatoes taste better.
Sweet potatoes are harvested after the first fall frost turns the foliage black.
Carefully dig your sweet potatoes with a garden fork and let them dry in the sun for a couple of hours and then transfer them to a warm, shaded, well-ventilated area and spread them out on some screens or newspaper.
Let them cure in the warm shade for another two weeks, dirt and all before you put them in storage. Prior to storage use your hands to rub off residual dirt, but do not wash them.
You can harvest "baby bakers" as they grow but the sweetness of the potato is enhanced if you wait until after frost and several weeks of curing.
This process allows the starches to turn to sugar.
Properly cured sweet potatoes can store for six months or more at about 50 degrees. I told my husband I want him to dig me a root cellar for Christmas this year ... I plan on a bountiful harvest.

But if this wish does not come true a cool corner of the basement will have to do.
Some old-time sweet potato growers are emphatic about not disturbing your sweet potatoes until you are ready to eat them. This is why, they say, homegrown sweet potatoes are better than store-bought, too.
Store-bought sweet potatoes see a lot of movement, which causes the sugars to constantly move through the tuber hastening undetectable spoilage; the homegrown variety sits quietly which allows the sugars to settle to the bottom, keeping the tuber fresher and sweeter.

If you decide to grow sweet potatoes annually, be sure to rotate the crop to control potential insect problems.
There are few pests, really, but if you plant in the same place year after year, the sweet potato weevil may find itself a permanent home.

Fillies claim 38th District with 14-4 win over Nicholas County Tuesday

Head to region play at Bourbon County

By MIKE ALDRIDGE, SPORTS WRITER

Harrison County spotted Nicholas County an opening 4-0 lead before coming back to whip the Lady Jackets in four innings, 14-4, at Pendleton County Tuesday night.

Nicholas County had opened the district competition with a six-inning, 12-2 win over the host Lady Cats before running into the Harrison County buzz saw.

After Nicholas County had scored four times in the opening inning on two hits, a couple of walks, a hit batsman and a big Harrison County error, the Fillies scored one run in the bottom of the inning.

Ashley Coppage led off the Fillies' half of the inning with her 18th home run of the season for the first Fillies run.

Starting pitcher Jami Davis settled down after the first inning and sat the Nicholas County girls down in the second without giving up another base hit.

The Fillies roared back in the bottom of the inning started by back-to-back singles by Morgan Florence and Davis.

Courtney Newsom and Shelby Ishmael advanced the runners with sacrifices and a single by Macy Martin scored them.

Martin then scored on a Coppage single and Coppage came around to score on Nicholas County errors making the score 5-4 after two innings.

Nicholas County threatened in the third when Tabitha Ritchie doubled with one out.

Shannon Bretz advanced her to third with a single but Davis fanned the next two batters ending the last threat for the Lady Jackets.

It was only the beginning for Harrison County, however, as the Fillies Sydney Motell doubled and scored on Florence's' ground out to short to make the score 6-4 after three innings.

The Fillies then put six on the board in the fourth when a one-out single by Ishmael started a rally that saw a three-run home run by Coppage, a Motell triple and a double by Davis before the inning was over.

The Fillies put two more on the board in the bottom of the fifth for the 10-run Mercy rule to come into play.

In total for the game, Harrison County had 14 runs on 14 hits while the Lady Jackets had four runs on four hits.

Coppage was four for four with three runs scored and seven RBI's to lead the Fillies' effort.

Martin had two hits and scored three runs while Florence, Davis and Motell each had two hits and scored seven times between them.

Both teams advance to next week's region play at Bourbon County.

Nicholas County has lost six of its last seven and is going into the region with a 13-10 record. The Fillies have won four straight and enter the winners' bracket of the region with a 23-10 record.

Breds rip Black Devils, await Bluejackets/Wildcats winner

By MIKE ALDRIDGE, SPORTS WRITER

Five young Harrison County pitchers combined to throw a no hit-ter and the Thorobreds for an easy 16-0 win over Robertson County in the opener of the 38th

Sophomores Austin Reffett and Alex Kinsey, freshman Gus Garrison, lightly used junior Christian Persinger and eighth grader Nathan Fryman combined to strike out six and walk only one in the five-inning game.

The Breds' batters had 13 hits, drew seven walks and had one batter hit by a pitch to put base runners on in each inning except the first.

After the scoreless first inning, Harrison County scored three runs in the second, 10 in the third and three more in the fourth as Coach Mac Whitaker played 20 players in the rout.

John King, Brandon Kendall, Garrison and Persinger had doubles for the Thorobreds as the Breds hit for five extra base hits among the thirteen for the game.

Harrison County is scheduled to play at 5:30 p.m. Wednesday against the winner of the Nicholas County versus Pendleton County game, which will be played Tuesday.

The games are being played in Carlisle at the Nicholas County High School field with no lights so only one game can be played per day.

The win gives Harrison County a 20-7 record for the season while Robertson County ends the season with a 1-17 mark.

Junior Christian Persinger took the mound for the Breds as the team advanced in the first round of the District 38 tournament, beating Robertson County 16-0.

Faulconer sets school mile record at state

Cook and Carr score for Fillies

By MIKE ALDRIDGE, SPORTS WRITER

Louisville Central ran away with the girls' team title and Lexington Catholic was the easy winner in the boys' competition Friday at the AA State Track Championships.

The meet, which was moved up a week to accommodate the officials, featured some dominant athletes in both the girls' and boys' divisions.

Joey Faulconer was fourth in the 1600M run and Daniel Klapheke was eighth in the 110M hurdles to score six points for the Harrison County Thorobreds, who finished in 32nd place in the 44-team competition.

Faulconer's time of 4:31.22 broke the Harrison County High School record of 4:32, which was set 41 years ago in 1972 by Jimmy Grisso.

The Thorobreds had some good efforts in other events but came up short in each one.

The 3200M relay of Joe Thomas, Harry Smith, Austin Short and Grant Carr ran the event in 8:49.65, which was almost four seconds faster than their third place region performance.

Grant Carr finished 11th on Friday in 2:03.22, which was a two second improvement over his third place region performance.

Mason Ritchie in the high jump and Taylor Bolin in the pole vault improved their region performances by several inches but were unable to score in the state meet.

The Thorobreds were also hampered by the absence of Todd Puckett who had qualified for the long jump and also ran a leg in the 800M relay team. Puckett was injured in a car accident and is recuperating at this time.

"We had some good efforts but did not do as well as last year for sure. We will be back and better next year," said Coach Robert Walker.

Haley Carr, Kassidy Cook and Mia Lail were the three Fillies who competed in the state on Friday. They scored 7.5 points to finish in 28th place in the 44-team field.

Carr finished 6th in the 100M hurdles in 16:53 and Lail finished just out of the scoring in 16:67. Both girls easily out-performed their times when

MIKE'S MINUTE

To error is human to admit it, not likely

Using replay in sports to verify a call is a hot subject with many pros and cons including what to do if a mistake is found.

The biggest issue in all sports that have replay is the time it takes to view the film and either verify or correct the call.

Hockey, believe it or not, has the best system and the fastest.

Hockey has an independent person or persons in a film room somewhere in Canada with all games being played on video screens around the room.

When the officials in the room are notified of a replay, they watch and call back immediately to satisfy the situation, however, it need be.

This takes the ownership of the call off the field and out of the decision.

This problem came to play a week or so ago when Oakland's A's had a game taken from them when, despite clear visual proof on film that a ball was a home run, the umpire who called the hit to not be a home run would not change his call.

Angel Hernandez was the umpire and he is an example of why having the people who made the call independently view the film will not work.

This guy a few years ago threw the broadcaster out of the game when he loudly criticized him during a game.

A guy who cannot make a mistake is not the one to look at film to see if one has been made.

Football has a better system with a "booth official," but it is slow and sometimes ruled questionably.

The football system also has the referee with his head stuck in a camera viewing and having input so if he is Angel Hernandez like the ruling still may not be impartial.

This may be one time that professional hockey has it right on how to administer the replay booth.

What to replay is also a concern and this gets into basketball.

I think in most cases, putting time back on a clock is foolish. There should be time allowed for human reaction to stop the clock so putting time back on the clock should not be necessary.

If an arena or university gym has a proven record of mismanaging the clock, then replace the operator.

A couple of guys losing their gravy job of keeping the clock at a major university because of obvious "home team advantage" would send a message to the rest of the clock operators and the problem would be over.

I really don't like replay at all because of the difficulty of deciding what to replay and what not to replay.

Only doing replays at the end of games is wrong because games are many times decided earlier so that is inconsistent and not serving the purpose that replay is supposed to serve.

I believe that replay should be abolished and let humans decide the best that they can. After all, the umpires, officials, referees make fewer mistakes than the coaches, players and fans, so if all can't be corrected then let's not bother with any of it.

Besides, as long as Angel Hernandez and the like are calling the games, it is a waste of time anyway.

they were first and third in the region meet.

Carr also ran the 300M hurdles in 52:15 but did not place.

Cook had the best day of her young track career. The promising sophomore had her personal best in all three of the events she competed in finishing fifth in the high jump with a leap of 4 feet, 10 inches.

She was seventh in the triple jump with the second best jump in Harrison County High School history of 33 feet, 4 inches.

The school record belongs to Megan Gray McIlvain at 34 feet, 10 ½ inches.

Cook also had a personal best leap of 15 feet, 7 inches in the long jump but did not place.

"Our three girls did an awesome job," noted Coach Danny Simpson. "I am extremely proud of them. The two sophomores and one junior have a good chance to return to the state next year."

The Harrison County Thorobreds' bats came to life for a little while on Wednesday when they pounded out 11 hits in five innings to shut out Walton Verona (10-15) by a 10-0 score on the Hilltop.

Junior Zach Royce drove in four of the runs with a first inning sacrifice fly and a fourth inning three-run home run to lead Harrison County who improved to 19-6 with the win.

Brandon Kendall, Jordan Martin and Noah Mitchell each had two hits for Harrison County.

The Bearcat pitching also walked three and hit two batters to aid the Thorobreds cause.

Jordan Martin went the entire five innings for Harrison County allowing only two hits, walking no one and striking out 12.

Harrison County fell by a 6-3 score to Scott County (20-12-1) on Friday as four Cardinal pitchers limited the Breds to five hits.

Scott County scored three times in the third to break open a scoreless battle.

Harrison County's starting hurler, John King, allowed three hits and was the victim of three Thorobreds' errors in the inning as the visitors took advantage of the shoddy fielding.

Martin and King had back-to-back singles in the fourth with one out and Martin scored on a Royce sacrifice to get one of the runs back.

Scott County though got to Austin Reffett and Nathan Fryman for four hits and three runs in the fifth to take a 6-1 lead into the last two innings of the contest.

Martin had a two-run homer in the sixth but that was all the Breds could muster as they lost for the seventh time against 19 victories.

Harrison County opens district play on Monday with a 5:30 p.m. game with Robertson County.

The Breds own two victories over the Black Devils by a combined 32-0 score.

Fillies on three games win streak heading into district play

By MIKE ALDRIDGE, SPORTS WRITER

The Harrison County Fillies defeated George Rogers Clark Friday on Senior Night by a 5-4 score and won both ends of the triangle tournament on Saturday to head into district play on a three-game winning streak.

The 23-10 Harrison County squad edged Estill County (18-15) by a 7-6 score in the first game of the triangle and Western Hills (18-17) by a 2-1 score in the final game.

Western Hills beat a depleted Estill County squad in the second game as the Lady Engineers sent their seniors home for graduation.

Senior Night saw Ashley Coppage, Morgan Florence and Yasmeen Smith honored in pre-game ceremonies.

Coach Garnett commented later that the three girls had been a big and integral part of the Fillies softball program and that they certainly would be missed.

The game was not very pretty except that the Fillies came out on top 5-4.

Of the nine total runs, only three were earned and none of the George Rogers Clark runs were of the earned-run variety.

The Lady Cards scored first in the third when center fielder Madison Norton reached on an error at second and scored on Megan Terrell's one-out double.

The Fillies scored their three earned runs in the bottom of the fourth to take the lead at 3-1.

Courtney Newsom reached on one of GRC's eight errors for the game and was sacrificed to second by Bailey Conley.

Smith then walked and Coppage hit her 16th home run of the year for the 3-1 advantage.

Norton led off the fifth for the Lady Cards with a single and advanced to score on two consecutive errors at center field for the Fillies.

George Rogers Clark pitcher Whitney Conkwright drove in both of the players who reached on the errors and the visitors had a 4-3 lead going into the bottom of the sixth inning.

Smith led off the sixth by being hit by a pitch followed by Coppage reaching on an error in center for the Lady Cards.

Morgan Grose walked, but both she and Coppage were forced out after Smith scored the tying run.

Sydney Motell reached on an error by the pitcher and came around to score the winning run on another error by the Lady Cards.

Anderson opened the top of the seventh by reaching first on an error at short by the Fillies but winning pitcher Jami Davis set the next three batters down and the Fillies were Senior Night winners 5-4.

George Rogers Clark goes into district play with a 17-16 record.

Saturday's first game with Estill County was frustrating for the Fillies as the Lady Engineers were blooming balls just over the infield and scoring runs while, for the first four innings, the Fillies were hitting the ball on the nose with nothing to show for it.

The game was in the bottom of the fifth with the visiting Estill County squad leading 5-0 when the Fillies batted around scoring seven runs, four coming after two were out.

Haley Powers had the big blow in this inning with a bases-loaded single that scored three teammates to take the lead.

Newsom and Macy Martin also had a key hit in this inning to help the Fillies take a 7-5 advantage.

The pitcher Davis, Grose, Newsom and Martin each had two hits in the game.

The loss leaves Estill County's record at 18-15 with a Tuesday date against Owsley County in the 56th District at Powell County.

Newsom and Martin continued to play a big part in the Fillies success in the last game as they scored one run each in the 2-1 Harrison County victory.

The Lady Wolverines scored their only run in the top of the second when they scored with two outs after scratching out a couple of hits.

Newsom singled and scored in the bottom of the inning tying the game.

The game remained deadlocked until the fifth when Martin and Coppage led off with singles and Motell singled in Martin with two out to secure the win.

Western Hills threatened in the top of the seventh when the lead-off hitter reached on an error.

She was forced at second for the first out but a single put two runners on with only one out.

Davis got the next batter to fly to center and the next batter to ground out to short to make the victory Harrison County's.

Western Hills will go into 41st District play Tuesday against Franklin County with an 18-17 record.

The Fillies will play the winner of Pendleton County and Nicholas County in the second round of the 38th District in Falmouth.

Lawler has been appointed as LVC's academic coordinator

As a result of his passion for teaching, David Lawler, was appointed to be the academic coordinator during the fall of 2012.

He has been a full time professor of biology and math at the Licking Valley Campus since August 2001.

Lawler continues to teach biology and said, "I have a passion for my material and when you have students that want to learn, then it's rewarding when they reflect that back to you."

Lawler attended a community college for one year at Indiana University East where he was taught by some of the best teachers he has ever had.

Then, he received his bachelor's degree in environmental science and journalism from Butler University.

DAVID LAWLER

He then went to the University of Kentucky to earn a master's of plant physiology. With 30 hours under his belt, he decided to become a safe room teacher in Lexington and that inspired him to go back to UK and earn his master's in education.

Another inspiration to foster Lawler's interest in teaching was his mother, whom Lawler said was a great teacher and because of her, many other people are teachers today.

Before coming to the Licking Valley Campus, Lawler taught biology and math at Bourbon County High School for two years working primarily with at-risk students.

Before being hired full time, Lawler was an adjunct instructor for five years and also had carpentry jobs such as renovating his family's farm house.

Then, he was hired by MCTC as a full time professor of biology and developmental math courses.

"What I have loved about the community college, especially LVC, is the nontraditional students," Lawler said. "They want to learn the material and that's what I've loved about teaching here."

One of Lawler's tasks as professor is to plan each semester's schedule. As LVC grows larger and the number of classes grows, the need for an academic coordinator became quite evident.

There are now increased demands to support the number of students at LVC.

During his new role as academic coordinator, Lawler plans and implements the schedule. He also facilitates faculty to ensure that LVC provides the teaching and learning experience that meets students' needs.

He listens to student concerns and faculty concerns and finds solutions for those concerns.

"Our goal here is to provide good quality instruction that meets the needs of the community and I'm a part of that process," said Lawler.

"David Lawler and I have been colleagues at LVC for 19 years," said Lori Gaunce, registrar. "Shortly after I began working at MCTC-LVC, Mr. Lawler was the first adjunct faculty member I spoke with about a position that had just opened.

"Since then, we have served on many committees together as well as collaborated on numerous projects over the years."

Gaunce described Lawler as a committed, loyal, and dependable faculty member (and friend) who always has the students' best interest at heart.

"His students admire him for his style of teaching and his advising strengths," Gaunce continued. "We consider Mr. Lawler our 'transfer advisor' as many times he speaks with students who are planning to transfer on to a four-year university."

Lawler researches and plans the student's LVC college career so transferring will be a seamless process.

Lawler and his wife, Barbara, have two children. Barbara works for Fayette County Public Schools as a diagnostician for special education. His son, Ben, 25, is a math tutor at UK. His daughter, Emily, 23, is attending Vanderbilt to earn a PhD in Economics.

For more information on attending LVC, call 859-234-8626 extension 66400.

MCTC/LVC demonstrates nursing simulation to CHP Employer Advisory Committee at May meeting

MCTC/Licking Valley Campus hosted the Community Health Partnership Employer Advisory Committee meeting on Wednesday, May 8.

The meeting was held at the campus in the nursing simulation lab in the Health Sciences Wing and the hosts were college faculty, staff and student representatives.

The CHP Employer Advisory is comprised of a group of physicians, hospital staff members, city and county government officials and other employers. The group has been meeting quarterly since 1999.

"This meeting is always filled with useful information and it was a pleasure for us to be able to share with them a glimpse into the world of the nurse educator," said K. Bruce Florence.

In order to show the assembled group some of the teaching processes that take place in the training of today's RN, the students and instructors staged a simulation demonstrating the care administered to an emergency heat stroke patient.

The demonstration

Timothy Graves, left, student at MCTC/LVC, and Larry Lemons, MCTC/LVC Maintenance Operations, participate in the nursing simulation for the Community Health Partnership Employer Advisory Committee meeting on Wednesday, May 8.

included the use of the sim manikins.

These simulators are used for hands-on experience in teaching the students.

It creates real life situations so if students make mistakes it does not have an adverse effect on a real patient.

Also, many times nursing students don't always get to see patients with the same medical problem they study in the text or lecture. These simulations allow instructors to bring the medical problem they are teaching in lecture to the students as a practical experience.

Cathy Muntz, executive assistant to Harrison Memorial Hospital CEO Sheila Currans said, "The nursing students were very professional and did everything in an exemplary manner. As a hospital employee, I am reminded daily about patient privacy, customer service and double checking patient identity. Your students are well trained. I am impressed with them and the wonderful training the Licking Valley Campus is providing for our future nurses."

For more information about the nursing program at LVC, contact Deb Williams at 859-234-8626 extension 66437 or email her at deborah.williams@kctcs.edu.

National Drug Court Month

Local program requesting supplies for U.S. military troops in Afghanistan

In celebration of National Drug Court Month, the Harrison County Drug Court program is collecting supplies for active-duty soldiers in Afghanistan throughout May.

The program is asking the public to give items the troops need and is requesting that area agencies and businesses serve as donation sites.

Harrison County is part of the Region 6, which also includes: Bourbon, Franklin, Boone, Bracken, Campbell, Fleming, Gallatin, Kenton, Mason, Nicholas, Pendleton, Robertson, Scott and Woodford counties.

This region is asked to donate: Shampoo, sunscreen, travel-size tissues, small fruit packs, snacks that can withstand heat, summer sausage, sunflower seeds, sweetened drink mixes and toaster pastries

“Drug Court provides participants an opportunity to experience freedom from addiction,” Kentucky Drug Court manager Elizabeth Nichols said. “During National Drug Court Month in May, Drug Court programs and their participants want to serve the men and women who help protect freedom for all Americans. We need the community’s support to be successful. Please donate items to help soldiers wherever you see a ‘Drug Court Works to Support Our Troops’ box with the American flag and yellow ribbon and, if you head a business or an agency, offer to serve as a collection site.”

Kentucky Drug Court programs statewide are soliciting donations for the troops during National Drug Court Month. The items will be combined and presented to the military in June to be delivered overseas. There are 55 Drug Court programs in the commonwealth serving 115 of Kentucky’s 120 counties.

For more information, contact Andrea Hinton, andrea-hinton@kycourts.net or 859-234-3520.

KODA. Celebrating Life was the theme at the recent Business After Hours sponsored by the Paris/Bourbon County Chamber of Commerce and hosted by Bourbon Community Hospital on April 16. The Kentucky Organ Donor Affiliates (KODA) representatives, Charlotte Wong and Sharon Cohen were on hand to honor the hospital for their work with KODA. They presented the hospital with a flag to honor organ donors and their families for the gift of life and the hospital’s part in making this gift possible. Two donations were made through the hospital in 2012. KODA also displayed the Organ Donor Quilt on which each square represents something special from the donor’s life. The flag presented to the hospital was raised during the ceremony and will remain throughout the month of April, Organ Donor Month. Each time an organ donation is made at the hospital, the flag will be raised in honor of the donor and their family. For more information on organ donation contact the hospital or www.kyorgandonor.org.
